It analyzes the crisis situation and the confronted policies, between the political initiative of the ruling classes to relaunch the capital regime, and the political initiative of the lower classes for the sake of the anti-colonial, anti-capitalist and anti-imperialist revolution.

It collects: the time in which we are; the response of the peoples and the role of the left; the political struggle.

There is a catastrophic global capitalist crisis for workers and peoples, with the aggravating factor of the destructive aggression of the capitalist production and development model on nature, especially in the south of the world.
